

Essentials for the 'New Normal'

After over two months of stay-at-home, work-from-home orders, the Jakarta provincial government -along with several other regions- has decided that it is now time to enter a transition period. Although a recent survey by opinion pollster Indonesian Political Indicator found that 76% of those who live in Jakarta preferred the PSBB (large scale social restrictions) to be extended, it is understandable why the move was made. The economy needs a boost, people need jobs and income to survive.

In this particular phase, many of us have probably returned to the office since the beginning of the week. Rest assured, here at the WTC complex, we are taking serious precautionary measures to keep you safe. Routine temperature checkup upon entering each building, hand sanitizers pretty much everywhere, increased frequency of cleanup especially for facilities with most human interactions such as the elevators and door handles, air purging, and many more.

However, as there's no such thing as being 'too clean', here is a list of things you can -and should- bring to keep you extra safe:

Mask

Can be a medical mask or a cloth mask. Always carry a spare inside your bag. Don't touch the front side when you want to take it off. Dispose the medical one properly or wash it after use for the cloth one.

Hand sanitizer

It's the most convenient option to keep your hands clean when you're out in public spaces or transportation.

Soap

Whenever possible, opt for washing your hands with soap and water. Bring a bar of soap, a liquid soap, a paper soap - any soap will do.

Wet wipes & disinfectant spray

Antibacterial wet wipes can be an alternative to hand sanitizer while disinfectant spray can be used to clean surfaces.

Personal dining set

This includes mug or tumbler, cutlery, lunchbox, and stainless straw.

Personal prayer set

It's best to use your own rather than using the ones prepared in public prayer rooms.

Helmet

When you're a frequent ojol (online motorcycle service) user, you might want to consider bringing your own helmet from now on.

Do you have other items you bring with you at all times now? Share with us to stara.pedro@jakland.co.id and for those of you who are back at the WTC, welcome home.

Yours trully,
